Supplemental Figure 1. (A) Long-term hematopoietic stem cell and granulocyte chimerism after bone marrow transplant. (B) The percentage of hematopoietic cells within the myocardium significantly increases after myocardial infarction. (C) After myocardial infarction, there is a transient influx of hematopoietic cells that decreases over time.